Wickliffe Mounds State Historic Site
94 Green Street—Wickliffe KY 42087

Wickliffe Mounds is the site of a Native American village of the Mississippian Indian culture and was first excavated in the 1930s revealing significant artifacts and information about the prehistoric people who lived here. Located atop a bluff near the Mississippi river, the village was occupied from 1100 to 1350 A.D.

Visitors to the site enjoy a birds-eye view from the Ceremonial Mound and walk the trails and grounds to read the interpretive signs about the mounds or have a picnic. Inside the Lifeways Museum is an excavated mound, exhibits of Mississippian culture and displays of pottery, stone tools, and trade items. The Welcome Center provides visitors with the history of the site, a gift shop, and tourism information.

We hope you will visit us soon! Hours are 9-5, Wed-Sun, April-October.
